Background Information:

ARCHITECTURE:

THE ART AND SCIENCE OF CREATING MAN'S ENVIRONMENT

Today's buildings are highly complex. They must meet rigid requirements for health and safety, and fulfill the need for functional and aesthetic excellence. Vermurlen Architecture provides the professional services necessary to satisfy these demands.

Our ability to faithfully clarify the needs of our clients has been a primary factor in the success of Vermurlen Architecture. It stands to reason, then, that our first objective is to establish your specific requirements. We may accomplish this during our initial discussions but a series of meetings is usually required. We cannot overemphasize the importance of careful analysis and planning. Extra time spent in the programming stage is a wise investment and can lead to economies realized throughout the project. If both short-term and long-term goals need to be addressed, our master planning services will help you formulate a step-by-step approach to fulfilling your needs within a designated time frame.

In 1974 Edward T. Vermurlen founded the firm of E.T. VERMURLEN & ASSOCIATES ARCHITECTURE, INC., P.C.. The firm now celebrates over thirty years of successfully meeting the architectural needs of its many clients.

During this time the firm has practiced Architecture in Illinois, Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. The firm holds National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) certification. Vermurlen Architecture incorporated Computer Aided Drafting and Design in 1983, one of the first firms in Western Michigan to automate. Since that time we have added such capabilities as solid modeling, digital photography, and of course many other computer applications as well. The software we utilize is VerisaCAD (3) stations.

ARCHITECTURE PROJECTS:

Many projects have been successfully completed over the past 35 plus years, yet we always look forward to the exciting professional opportunities new projects bring. On the page across the reader will find conceptual illustrations of four Vermurlen projects. The upper left is a concept project for a United Methodist Church addition. The Bottom left is a design competition in Oak Park, IL. a mixed use occupancy for Artist with their own store, studio and living space. The upper right is a Restaurant. The Lower right is a concept for a conversion of a 1912 residence into a professional office. Later in this document the reader will find listings of and illustrations of numerous other commercial and residential projects successfully completed by Vermurlen & Associates. The Edgewood Gallery placed first in Exterior and Interior Design.

Conceptual design projects require forethought and vision, qualities we bring to each project. Planning for the future is also essential for developing success projects, and we specialize in facilitating this aspect of architectural work. Whether your project requires site selection, analysis, or preliminary design, the Vermurlen Architecture team is ready to assist you.

Whether you are planning a large one like The Corporate Headquarters for Knoll International, which included corporate design center, manufacturing, facilities, visitors center and a mono-rail system running through the entire complex, Vermurlen Architecture is ready to serve you.

We now invite you to page through this document to view some of the work of E.T. VERMURLEN & ASSOCIATES ARCHITECTURE, Inc., P.C.

All the projects shown were completed on schedule and within the allocated budget. We have many projects that have strict budget constraints. Vermurlen Architecture has the professional expertise necessary to satisfy these type of demands without sacrificing its commitment and responsibility to design excellence. Time is of the essence and commitment are ingredients necessary to successfully complete a project.
